Preface

Publications of the Central Intelligence Agency are prepared to support US policymaking officials. However, the Agency releases its unclassified publications to improve public understanding of key policy issues and to provide additional research aids to academic and business communities. This program began in 1972 with CIA participation in the Document Expediting (DOCEX) Project of the Library of Congress. Since that time a large number of unclassified Agency publications have been distributed through this subscription service. The majority of these reports concern foreign or international economic and political affairs, or are directories of foreign officials. Publications have been included in the Government Printing Office's Depository Library program since late 1977 and, beginning in 1979, are also available from the Department of Commerce, National Technical Information Service (NTIS).

This catalog, issued annually since 1978, lists Central Intelligence Agency publications released through DOCEX from 1972 through 1979 and through NTIS since 1979. It is arranged alphabetically by country or geographic area with the titles of the reports in chronological order. The entries for the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union are further subdivided by broad subject headings; for example, political, economic, and so forth. Reports concerning more than one country or area are listed in the international section of the catalog. Publications issued semi-annually or more frequently are listed separately as serials.

Maps are not considered to be publications and therefore are not released through DOCEX or NTIS. They are available through the Superintendent of Documents and are listed in the GPO Monthly Catalog.

Publications are not available to the public from the Central Intelligence Agency.
